

CALVE'S CONCERT TOUR.

She Will Sing More Than Two Hundred Times This Season.

Mme. Emma Calve, the world's greatest Carmen, recently began a concert tour covering the United States and Canada, during which she will sing more than 200 times. Mme. Calve is so fine an actress that, should she ever exchange the lyric for the dramatic stage (as she once threatened), she would in all probability reap her operatic triumphs. She is so fond of acting that her concert tour was somewhat of a surprise.

"It will always please me better to act than to sing," she said not long ago.

MME. EMMA CALVE.

"The liberty is much greater on the dramatic stage. The actress has more sway. In opera, no matter how big the individuality, the artist must measure her ways. She cannot get away from the one-two-three beat of the baton. She cannot be all of her personality. The music with its rhythm holds her back. She is the slave of the composer. But when she acts without music she can be what she acts."

Mme. Calve a few years ago had her tomb designed, explaining that she shuddered to think of the possibility of being buried amid artistic surroundings; also that she did not wish to give her mother the trouble of having a headstone made for her. Two statues of the prima donna herself flank the tomb, one as Ophelia and the other as Carmen.

A VENERATED FIGURE.

General Booth of the Salvation Army and His Farewell to His Dog.

The venerable head of the Salvation Army, General William Booth, who has started on another long evangelistic tour, this time in South Africa, has a tender heart and likes animals as pets. On starting from Hadley, England, for his journey to Africa he said goodby to his favorite dog, and the beautiful and intelligent animal seemed to realize that the parting was to be a long one.

General Booth will soon be four-ore, and his long white beard makes him seem very patriarchal, but his energy and ambition are almost equal to those of a youth. Not long since it was reported that he contemplated retirement as commander in chief of the Salvation Army, but his present plans do not look like it. His African tour will last several months and will take him to regions of the dark continent where travel is by very primitive methods, such as bullock wagons, and where the roads are very rough. Such discomforts never deter the founder and head of the Salvation Army from doing what he considers his duty. He suffers much inconvenience just now from catarrhs of the eyes, and under these circumstances his courage in undertaking so exhausting a tour is great.

Golden Jubilee
Of Pope Pius X.

Roman Pontiff Is Plain in Tastes and Democratic in Character—How He Hoped an Artist-Priest.

THE golden jubilee of the pope—that is, his celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood—has occasioned the telling of many stories illustrating the democratic character and kindness of heart of the Roman pontiff.

One of those who have been privileged to form an intimate acquaintance with Pope Pius X. is the Rev. R. Gervier, an artist-priest of Chicago. Father Gervier painted the only portrait of the present occupant of the Roman see that has yet been placed within the historic precincts of the Vatican.

The greatest artists known throughout the past centuries have esteemed it a mighty honor to have the head of the Roman Catholic church sit for their brush. Only the master painters of the world have succeeded in having their canvases permanently placed where millions of the devout every year may gaze upon their creations in color. It was in the winter of 1903-4 that Father Gervier painted the present pope. His fame had preceded him to the Vatican all the way from a secluded monastery in Oklahoma. When, after the proper presentation of credentials, he craved the supreme pontiff of the church the opportunity to use his humble brush a few moments for a few days, the pope gave him an audience and smilingly said:

"Not a few minutes, my son. Not a few minutes. You shall take your time. All the time you need. We shall let other things wait. You have a God-given gift. You shall paint me and in your own time."

The portrait was in due time completed and has since received the highest praise. The sittings gave the reverend artist an opportunity to study the great man who heads the Roman Catholic church as few have been able to do, and he describes him as a man of humility and simplicity. The eucharistic congress in London, with its concluding ceremonial of an imposing street procession, has called attention recently to the elaborate ritual and gorgeous spectacles incident to the rites of the church which Pope Pius X. leads. His holiness conforms, of course, to the traditions of his church in such matters, and when the public sees him it is generally in his robes of ecclesiastical state, surrounded by all the distinctions of his sacred office. But in private he is a quiet, unaffected gentleman of plain tastes and democratic instincts.

Portraits of his holiness do not do him justice, as when speaking his expression is indescribably kind. If at times his face shows that the triple crown presses heavily, his vigorous constitution and strength of character, coupled with a knowledge of the loyalty of his people in the four corners of the globe, make him equal to the responsibilities of the holy see. When the weather is pleasant he finds much enjoyment in the Vatican gardens. There he back of St. Peter's and the Vatican. A ramble of two hours barely covers their area. Great, thick, high hedges of myrtle shade many of the pleasant walks and fill the air with a pungent fragrance. Bronze and marble statues decorate gently rising slopes.

A writer who recently saw the pope at the Vatican thus described the scene: "As he entered it seemed as if all present had ceased to breathe, so intense was the feeling of reverence which welled up at the first glimpse of the prisoner of the Vatican. After casting a kindly glance of welcome upon all he walked around the large circle, giving to each one his ring to kiss. And as one after another kissed the fisherman's seal young men were seen to take the venerable hand in both of theirs and hold it as if rejoiced to let it go, old men bent their white heads against it, while loving, anxious mothers petitioned him to bless their children. Then he was standing in the center of the room blessing us and our friends, and in a few moments had passed out, the memory of his presence remaining like a gentle benediction."

TO PEOPLE OF ADAIR COUNTY!

It takes money to run a campaign and it takes a great deal of it to successfully engineer one of national scope. The present attitude of the Democratic party excludes contribution from the powerful corporations and trusts and consequently must rely on the loyalty, patriotism and free-will offerings of the great common people to meet the demands of legitimate campaign expenses and the sooner this is met the more life, enthusiasm and effectiveness will be given the work necessary to win. It is the duty, as well as a privilege, for every person who believes in and desires democratic success to contribute to this fund. A request has been made that Democratic papers solicit for this purpose and forward same to the National Committee. We obey the suggestion and ask every true Democrat to help in this fight to restore to the great bulk of the people their rights, their privileges and the blessings of a free government. Any amount from one dollar up will be cheerfully received and promptly forwarded to the Committee. Fill out the following and enclose your contribution:

A Family Mix.

In the early part of the last century there lived in an old New England town a Mr. Church, who, in the course of his pilgrimage through the vale of tears, was bereft of four wives, all of whom were buried in the same lot. In his old age it became necessary to remove the bodies to a new cemetery. This melancholy task the much bereaved widower undertook himself, but in the process the bones of the lamented quarter became hopelessly mixed. Priding himself on possession of a New England conscience, Mr. Church would not, under the painful circumstances, permit the use of the original headstones, and procured new ones, one of which bore the following inscription: "Here lies Hannah Church and probably a portion of Emily." Another: "Sacred to the memory of Emily Church, who seems to be mixed with Matilda." Then followed these lines: Stranger, pause and drop a tear For Emily Church lies buried here. Mixed in some perplexing manner With Mary, and Matilda probably Hannah.

Curios For The Fair.

An old man who will admit that he sleeps at all during the night.

A fleshy lady whose stiffness she admits is old age instead of rheumatism.

A little boy who refuses the second piece of pie.

A girl who returns a borrowed book.

An umbrella returned and in good order.

The preacher who stops after "a word in conclusion."

The old maid who is strictly honest, in giving her age.

The woman who leaves immediately when she arises to go.

The girl who is so modest to engage in a round dance.

The young man who is willing to carry a bundle on the street.

A musician who is not sensitive.

An aristocratic lady who tells the truth about her ancestors.

A young man who prefers to sit with his mother at church.

A church choir vocalist who avoid the tremolos.

A girl who gets down to breakfast in time when she is on a visit.

A man of means who sticks to the truth about what he gives.

Chickens that stay in their own yard.

An old negro who is perfectly well.

A well-to-do widow who can not be financially decided by a plausible talker.

A shopping woman who does not ask for a ten-cent parcel to be sent to her home.

A mother who becomes very nervous when her little boy in knee breeches is out on the street at 9 p. m.

A man who does not become offended but considers it a compliment to be dunned.

A young woman who does not try to wreck her father financially in her wedding outfit.

A well dressed woman who never gets in late at church.

A mother who will not spend her last cent on a vagabond son.

His Deep Concern.

The kind old lady noticed a small lad entering a cobbler's shop with a small package.

"What have you there, sonny?" she asked kindly.

"Ma's slipper," replied the lad. "You see, there is a tack out of place in it, and I want to have it fixed before ma notices it."

"Ah, what a considerate little boy! I suppose you are afraid the tack might hurt your mother's foot?"

"Well, it isn't exactly that. You see, the tack is sticking out on the sole, and this is the slipper ma spansks me with."—Chicago News.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For President,
WM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President,
J. W. KERN, of Indiana.

For Congress,
A. G. PATTERSON, of Bell county.

Twelve years ago Mr. Bryan appeared as the leader of political reform, demanding that public officials should have clean records and uncontaminated with corporate interests, seeking special privileges through our Legislative bodies. The battle was lost. Four years later he was again leader in the same fight with a similar result, but notwithstanding two defeats he kept the faith, and so impressed the people that President Roosevelt sought popularity and party prestige by leaving his party pledges to make a grand stand play as an original and powerful political purifier. Drifting from the policy of his party, pursuing an unmapped course in the hollow pretense of purification, the "big stick" policy reached its zenith, and Mr. Roosevelt was apparently, "Czar of all the Russians." With his powerful political machine he dictated the policy of his party, and named its candidate in the present contest, and his mistake is now the heaviest load of his life. Mr. Taft is not magnetic, he is not in warm sympathy with the true and broad spirit of reform. He is doubted by many of his own political faith, and is cramped by the exigencies arising from conditions fathered and fostered by the Republican party. In the meantime Mr. Bryan has grown in public confidence and beyond doubt is entitled to the support of every man who believes in better political living, who desires equal rights for all, and special privileges for none. He is the champion of the issues born out of twelve years of unceasing warfare and comes before the American people without spot or blemish, a record a life consistent with the doctrines he preached and for which his party is truly and honestly pledged. Mr. Bryan is the pioneer, the man who at heart, desires to bring into operation the policies and principles that will best serve the great mass of people, establish justice in all the branches of government. To spread the gospel of peace, to establish prosperity, to bring our government back to its original purity and give every industry an equal and fair showing is his purpose, and his party in every section is united to aid in this great work. Mr. Taft is laboring under political necessity, giving voice to means and measures to which he, at heart, is not in full accord. He has not been a conspicuous figure in the reform movement and the people know it.

One trouble with Democrats, they become too overconfident just before the election, sit down and fold their arms. There is no doubt but Kentucky will give a large Democratic majority if the members of the party go to the polls and vote. To win in an election you must fight continuously for every thing that is in sight. It was apathy that lost the State to the Democrats last November. There was an imaginary trouble in the land at that time, and many Democrats remained away from the polls. We are all together now and if every Democrat will go to the polls and vote the ticket the State will give 20,000 majority.

The Democrats of Adair and adjoining counties must not overlook the candidacy of Hon. A. G. Patterson for Congress. He is a young man of ability and is said to be quite popular in the eastern portion of the district where he is well-known. It is claimed by his friends that he will greatly reduce the Republican majority in the district. He says himself that he will carry Bell, Whitley and Knox counties. Mr. Edwards is not popular in Adair and with a strong effort it is possible for Mr. Patterson to carry it.

Mr. Bryan is regarded one of the greatest platform orators on this continent. He is sound in the doctrine of the Protestant faith, believing in the Divinity of Jesus Christ, and holding out the promises of the New Testament for the Christians' hope. Mr. Taft, cold in his makeup, standing aloof from the common people, giving no hope or inspiration in the line of Christian living, and holding to the faith that Christ is not the Son of God.

The Washington Weather Bureau Saturday reported frost in the Middle Atlantic States, in New England throughout the Ohio Valley and in Tennessee. There is snow and freezing temperature in the North Rocky Mountain States and all through the Mississippi Valley to the gulf and Atlantic coast the mercury has fallen below the seasonal average.

Consternation has been caused among the Republican campaign managers by the Rock Island speech of Congressman Nicolas Longworth, in which he declared for eight years for Taft to be followed by eight more for Roosevelt. According to reports in Washington the President was by no means pleased with his son-in-law's address.

J. Alexander Chiles, a colored lawyer of Lexington, and who has greater influence with his race, has repudiated Taft and says he will vote for Bryan. He says the colored man will never amount to anything as long as he permits the Republican party to drive him to the polls like a sheep to the slaughter pen.

Gov. Hanly, of Indiana, got some hard knocks in the Legislature of his State last week. Representative Kniesly charged that the Governor attempted to bribe him, and the night rider mob was defeated by the Governor's agencies.

Rev. F. H. Hill and wife were drowned in Chaplin River, last week. They were married at the Galt House, Louisville, the Saturday evening before.

Gov. Haskell, of Oklahoma, gave out a long letter addressed to Mr. Roosevelt, last Wednesday, in which he defended himself against charges made by the President. It is evidently the hottest letter ever addressed to a ruler of a nation.

The Cabinet has put a muzzle on Teddy. He says he will not reply to Mr. Bryan's last letter. He has also concluded not to make any speeches. The Republicans throughout the country think that he has already talked too much.

Mr. Bryan says, in addressing Mr. Roosevelt: "I have lived a life in vain if your accusations have lost me a single friend." Teddy became furious when he read this, and went out and shot an elephant.

Would you feel that you had done the right thing to elect a man to the head of our government who does not believe in the Divinity of Christ?

TAFT LOSING VOTES
BY TARIFF SPEECHES.

One Of His Newspaper Supporters Tired of His "Peculiar Doctrine."

New York, Oct. 1.—[Special.]—The New York Evening Post, which has been supporting Taft, has the following as its leader editorial this afternoon:

If we may judge from letters which come to us and from the comment which everyone hears, something like two or three thousand hesitating voters must be turned from Mr. Taft every time he expounds anew his peculiar doctrine about the Wilson tariff and the panic of 1893. We do not recall any selection of an "issue" by a candidate in any previous campaign so thoroughly calculated to do a maximum of harm to his political fortunes. We can assure Mr. Taft that for every muddled-headed farmer who might have been deluded by a hundred intelligent readers of his words along his natural supporters in other localities were stirred to indignation at them.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, issued a statement Saturday night, in which William H. Taft, Republican candidate for the Presidency, is bitterly arraigned because of the latter's charge, in a speech at Denver Friday night before that the labor leader was "lying to his followers." Mr. Gompers recites the experience

NICK'S BREAK HURTS.

Time For Big Chief to Use Big Stick On His Son-In-Law.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 4.—[Special].—Only a word or so just at this time, and that is to say that the Republicans here, possibly those who tie to the fortunes of Vice President Fairbanks, are all stirred up and highly indignant over the declaration of son-in-law Nick nominating his daddy-in-law, the "Big Chief," for eight years more in 1916. The Indianapolis Star of to-day, the Republican organ of the State, has an editorial paragraph to the effect that the President should use his big stick upon his blatant son-in-law, or, as the boys in Washington say, "The hubby of sweet Alice."

The Simpson Correspondent Says.

A company has been formed and are sinking a shaft in a trap dike running Southeast. This Volcanic trap is from two to four inches wide at surface of rock, under three feet of waverly sand stone. The company is now blasting out silver, lead and ore at a depth of five feet from top of dirt. This trap dike was found by J. A. Turner in August, 1907, and is the only one he says in Southern Kentucky. This dike dips southwest at an angle of about forty-five degrees.

Judge Scott, of Edmondton, was in our midst one day last week, while enroute for Columbia.

Plenty of fresh beef on our market daily at prices to suit the times.

Cattle, mules and sheep are not in as good demand as they were last season at this time. What's the matter?

Ed Cox, of Greensburg, spent last Friday and Saturday in our midst.

William Coomer, who is having a well drilled near his residence, after going the depth of 112 feet struck a stream of a mixture of water and oil. The water certainly has the odor of oil.

Mack Coomer was in our midst a day or so of last week buying tobacco for his firm at prices at from $10.00 to $12.00 per hundred.

Uncle Thomas Grady, one of our oldest men, put in several days of last week at work on the

Mrs. Rilda Bullington, after several weeks visiting in Metcalfe county with relatives and friends returned home Saturday.

Clem Keltner and Elbert Nell two of our business men were in Columbia one day last week.

We are glad to note that Mrs. C. H. Yates has regained her health so fast that she is now able to attend the Sabbath School. She is looking fine.

You will have to excuse your reporter for this time as his afflictions for the past three months has been like poor old Job's, and he thinks; if possible, worse at times. He can not walk a step without assistance.

"Proxy" Taft.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, one of Mr. Joseph Pulitzer's newspapers, summarizes the Democratic case against the Roosevelt administration as follows:

"1. It has been extravagant and wasteful.

"2. It has attempted to popularize war,

"3. It has gloried in Philippine imperialism.

"4. It has menaced the states with Federal usurpation by means of constructive jurisprudence.

"5. It has recklessly undermined confidence in our business methods, causing panic, depression and suffering.

"6. It has profited by the political contributions of corporations seeking legislative favors.

"7. It has spoken vociferously against the malefactors of great wealth, but is has not brought one of them to justice.

"8. It has bullied Congress, threatening to do as it pleased, law or no law.

"9. It has assailed the courts when their judgments were contrary to its wishes.

"10. It has maintained the highest tariff ever known in a free country, and has made no move in favor of income and inheritance taxes.

"11. It has constantly demanded law and more law for the prosecution of trusts, although existing laws are held by it to be too drastic for enforcement.

"12. It is now attempting to round out a career of willfulness, greed, ambition and tyranny by forcing the election of a personally excellent and amiable proxy."

These are legitimate issues; they are timely issues; they are Democratic issues. As the opposition candidate it becomes Mr. Bryan's privilege and duty to present them with all the skill and ability at his command.

His opportunity lies in an appeal to Democrats and to that great element in the electorate that is tired of extravagance and of militarism, of intralibration, of personal government, of big stick administration and partnership with predatory plutocracy.

Let Mr. Taft be the proxy. Let Mr. Taft be the heir to My policies. But let Mr. Bryan be the Democratic candidate for President of the United States.

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done is worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic and they keep me strong and well." 50c at Paul's drug store.

If you contemplate buying a new suit this Fall, we want to extend to you an invitation to examine the largest stock of

Bench Tailored Clothing

Ever shown in this part of Kentucky. Our stock is from the shops of two of the largest manufacturers of fine clothing in the United States.

Our Cheapest Line of Suits, from $3.50 to $12, have all the Styles and Shapes of a $15 Suit.

There is absolutely no good sense in you paying $20 to $25 for a special made suit, when we will sell you a better made suit of better material, and perhaps a better fit, for $12 to $20. If you will take the trouble to come in and let us show you our line, if we cannot please you, then we can have you a special suit made. We represent as good a Tailoring establishment as anybody, and if nothing else will do you we will have you a suit made, but you will pay $5 to $8 more for it—it won't be our profit—the Tailor will get it.

We are also exclusive dealers in the famous Stricker-Beitman line of

Men's Odd Pants

This embraces the greatest variety of Styles made in both Peg and Regular Sizes.

Young Men's, Boys', and Children's Suits in all the New Shades and Cuts.

Over Coats

We were fortunate in securing some great bargains in Overcoats bought at a closing-out sale. These coats were made for this Fall trade and are genuine BARGAINS.

It will afford us pleasure to have you come in and examine our stock. All lines are full and complete. Very truly,

Russell & Co.

The People Say.

Senator Fulton went to Oregon and asked for re-election, and the people said: "We Want a Change!"

Senator Hansbrough went to North Dakota for re-election, and the people said: "We Want a Change!"

Senator Kittredge heard it in South Dakota from the people: "We Want a Change!"

Senator Long asked the people of Kansas for re-election, and the people shouted: "We Want a Change!"

Senator Hopkins went to Illinois and asked for re-election, and two-thirds of the Republicans of Illinois announced: "We Want a Change!"

Almost one half of the Republicans of Iowa, even when asked by their distinguished Senator Allison, replied: "We Want a Change!"

The voice of the people is unmistakable. Wherever they have had a chance to speak, they have earnestly lifted their voices, saying: "We Want a Change!"

That sentiment is sweeping the whole country: "We Want a Change!"

Pert and Pertinent.

(E. Town News.)

There is no trouble now for even a candidate to kick up a dust.

Some women are so anxious to be seen that they dress that way. The paramount issue in this campaign is who is the reformer Bryan or Taft?

Since it did not rain we are inclined to doubt Felix Wise's hammer story.

Hashell may not be guilty, but he is certainly not above suspicion.

If men don't learn to fly it will be mighty loamsome for the ladies who go to Heaven.

We are afraid that we have frightened the Republican party so badly that it will run well.

Now just suppose that the Chicago Republican Convention had nominated Senator Foraker for President.

There is no good thing about the drouth—it has destroyed the reputation of all the weather prophets.

As Senator Foaker has been pitched off the Republican band wagon, John D. night give him an oil wagon.

Whether Hearst has any more letters is the question which is keeping a lot of trust statement awake at nights.

It used to be that the "rascals" were turned out after the election, but they are getting it this year before the election.

By all means let Teddy take the stump. He has violated all other precedents of the Presidency but this.

A Georgia dentist who advertised a drink of whiskey with every tooth pulled is doing a thriving business.

A California Judge has decided that it is not unlawful for a man to swear at his wife. Some things, however are lawful that are not expedient.

The New York man who is now seeing through a rabbit's eye inserted by an oculist is likely to shy across the street when he sees a dog.

The Republicans who are now calling so vigorously for tariff reform will not be recognized by Speaker Cannon when Congress meets this winter.

If what the President says is true that the trusts are more in danger from Taft's election than from Bryan's, will he please explain why the trusts are all supporting Taft.

Joe don't seem to be a favorite name this year. Joe Sibley and Joe Foraker are both down and out and Joe Cannon has troubles of his own.

The preacher who has built an ark in the Cascade mountains expecting the world to be destroyed by a flood seems to have selected a very dry time for his enterprise.

Uncle Joe Cannon says he is no worse than his party. That's right Uncle Joe, own up. But what we are trying to do is to convince the country that your party is as bad as you are.

We Get What We Give.

Like a magic vase, full to the brim, and so made that you cannot thrust your hand into it or pour, or sip or draw out of it.

It overflows into your hand only when you drop something into it.

And what you get is of the same quality as that which you give.

If you drop in love, it overflows love. If you drop in charity, it overflows charity. Drop in envy and jealousy and hate, and it will overflow these same things into your own life.

Love will draw the world to you and surround you with an atmosphere of happiness and success. It will bring to you all the good things that make the joy of living. Its opposite will drive them all away.

The reservoir of love is inexhaustible. The more you give the more you will have to give. It multiplies at the fountain and returns to you tenfold.

And the same is true of hate and all the other evil passions. Every hard thought gives birth to a stinging serpent in your own heart.

There never was a more thorough truth than that hate, envy, revenge and all the evil passions that we are heir to, corrode, render wretched and destroy first the heart in which they originate.

Love generates the sunshine of the moral universe, without which life would be a desert waste. It brightens the dark places. It gladdens the sorrowing. It lifts us above the petty grinding curses that harden the heart and sap enthusiasm and energy.

By lifting the burdens of others we lighten our own. By making others happy we bring happiness to ourselves.

Yes, a magic vase is that which overflows with that which is dropped into it. And that magic vase is no fanciful conception. It is life—everyday, commonplace life.

The value of charcoal is very often overlooked and it should be fed to fowls of all ages as a preventive of disease. It should be kept before fowls at all times, as there is no danger of their eating too much, and it has a great purifying effect in absorbing noxious gases and will correct many digestive disorders.

Broughton Brandenburg, it is alleged, is the "literary agent" who forged the Cleveland letter and who attempted to get Samuel Gompers to apostate the cause when he was seriously ill.

Out For Bryan.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 17.—A serious split developed in the Independence party of Georgia, today, when Chairman Sitzer, of State Executive Committee, announced that no electoral ticket would be put in the field. At the same time National Committeeman Clap of the party filed with the Secretary of State, a list of electors from every congressional district in Georgia and two from the State at large. Following the meeting of the State Executive Committee the official statement was given out by Chairman Sule declaring that it was more important to wage a State campaign for Governor than to put an electoral ticket in the field. Chairman Sule had this to say:

"The action of our Executive Committee means our candidate Carter will support Bryan and Kern in the National election. It means further that Carter is an Independent Democratic candidate for Governor."

The Versatile Old Lady.

The attention of the class in history seemed to be anywhere but on the subject in hand, and the young teacher was getting impatient.

"Children," she said, "you must pay better attention to what you are doing. You cannot possibly do two things at the same time. No one can do two things at once."

At this point a small boy raised his hand and waved it frantically in the air.

"Well, Willie, what is it?" she inquired.

"Please, teacher," said Willie, "my granny kin do two things ter onc't. I seen her."

"No, Willie. I think you must be mistaken, but suppose you tell us what these two things are."

"Please, ma'am, she kin read an' soak her feet all ter onc't."

The Difference.

He was a dog, But he stayed at home. And guarded the family night and day.

He was a dog That didn't roam.

He lay on the porch or chased the stray—

The tramps, the burglar, the hen away;

For a dog's true heart for that household beat.

At morning and evening, in cold and heat.

He was a dog.

He was a man. And didn't stay To cherish his wife and his children fair.

He was a man. And every day

His heart grew callous, its love-beats rare,

He thought of himself at the close of day,

And, clasp in his fingers, hurried away

To the club, the lodge, the store, the show.

But he had a right to go, you know.

He was a man.

Don't Have Them.

They don't have financial panics in France. Times vary over there, of course, but public confidence in the strength of the financial system is never shaken, and business in the country is not dependent upon the goings-on in the Paris Bourse as business in this country is at the mercy of wild men in Wall Street. If the French people can accomplish this why cannot the American people do it? France has a central bank, the greatest in the world. We need not have a central bank, but we can co-ordinate our banking system and super-vise and guard it better and arrange it so that its strength can be concentrated for defense at any danger point before it is too late.—Norfolk Landmark.

Bob Taylor Sanguine.

"Bryan is gaining strength every day" said Senator "Bob Taylor" of Tennessee, at the Ebbitt House. "The west is overwhelmingly for the Nebraska, and the south will line up solidly for him. The talk that Taft may carry any of the southern states is sheerest nonsense. Bryan will get a larger plurality in Tennessee than any democratic candidate has polled in years, and he will carry some western states that are counted on as surely."

"Business conditions in the south are showing marked improvement," added Senator Taylor. "We have had good crops and everywhere there is apparent marked return of the prosperity we enjoyed until last fall."

Where is Heaven.

This singular question was put to Sam Jones, the evangelist, by one of his wealthy church members, in Georgia whose cotton crop yielded him some twenty thousand dollars the year before. "I'll tell you where heaven is," said Mr. Jones. Go down to the village and buy fifty dollars worth of groceries, put them in a wagon and take them to the poor widow on the hillside, who has three of her children sick. She is poor and a member of the church. Take with you a nurse and some one to cook their meals. When you get there read the twenty-third Psalm and pray. Then you will find out where heaven is." Next day as the evangelist was walking through the village he met the same wealthy planter, his face beaming with joy. He spoke after this manner: "Mr. Jones, I've found out where heaven is. I went out and did as you directed me. We took up the wagon load of groceries, and the widow was completely overcome with thankfulness to God, and when I prayed the angels came down, and I was nearer to heaven than I had ever been before in my life. I left the nurse and the cook in her humble dwelling, and promised her she should never suffer as long as I could help her."

Congressman Ollie James, former Congressman John S. Rhea, Ward Headley, of Princeton; Joel B. Port, Felix G. Ewing, of Tennessee, friends and officials of the dark Tobacco Growers' Association pled for law and order at a meeting of that association at Princeton. The burden of all their speeches was that the members of the association must right the conditions that have prevailed in Western Kentucky during the last two years. They, themselves, must put down the night riders. Ward Headley, elector-at-large for the State on the Democratic ticket, denounced as libelous an alleged story that he said was to be sprung by the Republicans that he was the instigator of the raid on Hopkinsville.

The Business Hog.

The hog for the farmer and the pork barrel should be a hog that is hardy. Any one ought to know this, but I say it because there are scores of people who do not seem to know even this much. They buy almost anything, just so it is cheap. "Common stock will do for me," is a frequent saying. It is strange indeed, with all the good farm journals published, that there are so many people who claim that common stock is good enough for them. Some even claim they can make a hog out of anything with feed.

Don't try this plan of past ages. Get a good pair of pigs and learn how to care for them. Take your choice as regards breed, but buy the best. Why? Because the best gives you two chances. You can have as good success raising pure-bred pigs as the common kind. If you cannot sell any for breeding purposes the first year, people will see them and inquire after them and by and by you will be selling as a breeder and the business will come to you and you will hardly know how you got into the business. Although you do not sell any pigs or shoats for breeding purposes you have a lot of hogs that will take less feed and raise you better pigs.

There was a side attraction in Louisville during State Fair week which did not receive due newspaper notoriety. This was a three days' animated debate between two eminent divines of the Christain Church (alias Campbellite), as to the morality of immorality of the use of an organ in church services. After three days' strenuous debate the "umpires" were unable to render a decision, and waiting sinners are still left in doubt on the subject. For over forty years this question has been dividing congregations of these good people, and it is time it was settled. If it continues, who knows but the "night-riders" may take a hand in the discussion.—Farmers Home Journal.

Costliest of Dresses.

Who owns the costliest dress in the world? Not the Queen, or any other member of a European royal family; not the wife of an American millionaire, but the little-known Queen of Siam. Picture to yourself a gown of silk, entirely covered with an embroidery of diamonds, emeralds, rubies and sapphires, all cunningly fashioned into most intricate patterns, so that its wearer appears to be garbed in one great, shimmering, multi-colored gem. It will give you some slight idea of the dress, which is valued, at the very lowest estimate, at 1,000,000 lbs. or $4,000,000.

The sister of the Czar of Russia, the Grand Duchess Xenia, has a gown in the style of the Russian national costume, with this difference—it is incrustated at all points with precious stones of many kinds.

Of course both these dresses have one great drawback. They are so heavy to wear that it is very seldom their owners torture themselves by donning them.—[Answers.]

Obituary.

On Sunday morning September 13th, 1908, Mr. John Ellis departed this life at his late home near Pellyton, Ky.

He was born June 28th, 1876. He professed religion and joined the Methodist church September 2nd, 1896.

He was married September 9th, 1903, to Miss Dollie Payne. To this union two children were born, one dying in infancy. Little Nellie, a precious daughter, is left without a father. Though he had been a patient sufferer for several months and was often heard to speak of his condition of health, knowing that he had but a short time to be with his friends and loved ones in this life, still at a time when he least expected, the Death Angel came, and claimed his soul.

Everything that medical skill could suggest, were resorted to in order to relieve his suffering, but the good Lord saw fit to remove him from this world of suffering and sorrow to a world where pain and sorrow can not come. He bore his afflictions with unusual fortitude and patience, and gave conclusive evidence of his acceptance with God. He said he was ready to go, and patiently awaited the hour of death. He was a kind good man, and will be greatly missed in the community in which he lived. The entire community extends their heartfelt sympathy to dear relatives, especially, to his wife and mother who were so attentive at his bedside, and used every means known for his comfort and recovery.

If it were possible to comfort them there is none who would not, but the sympathetic words of friends can only give momentary relief in time of trouble. He leaves a wife and one little daughter, besides a mother, four brothers and three sisters, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn their loss, but their loss is his eternal gain. One by one earth's ties are broken, As we see our love decay, And the hopes so fondly cherished, Brighter but to pass away. One by one our hopes grow brighter, As we near the shining shore, For we know across the river, Waits the loved ones gone before.

A FRIEND.

Gapes.

In chickens this disease frequently destroys large numbers, and is caused by rematode worms in the windpipe. The trouble can be very easily identified, as the worms in the windpipe cause the birds considerable difficulty in breathing, causing it to open its mouth and gape, hence the name. Like other diseases, the best cure is prevention, and this can best be accomplished by keeping the fowls on fresh ground, and not allowing their quarters to become foul or filthy. A good remedy for the disease is to shut the affected fowls in a limited space and cause them to breathe air into which fine slacked lime is occasionally dusted.

Had a Croup Call.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom Hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. I began taking it, and three bottles affected a complete cure." The fame of this life saving cough and cold remedy, and lung and throat healer is world wide. UNION OF BALL PLAYERS.

Samuel Gompers Sees No Objection to Their Organizing.

Ball players of the future may form a part of the American Federation of Labor. President Samuel Gompers approves it, seeing no reason why, like other labor, it should not organize and tote union cards and work on a union schedule.

President Gompers saw the Browns walloping the Tigers at St. Louis the other afternoon. While he has never gained particular note as an enthusiastic fan, he is interested in the national game. After returning from the game Gompers was asked as to the possibility of organizing baseball players into a union.

"I can see no reason why they should not organize if they wish to," he said. "Baseball playing has become a skilled profession, and the thousands who assembled to see the game in which the Browns won the victory prove it has become a utility. As skill is required to play the game, I see no objection to those of the craft joining for mutual advantage."

If the ball players decide to form a union the fans may be furnished the delightful spectacle of a "strike" different from the common in baseball parks; also there may be "walkouts" when some south paw shows up for work without a card. The question of the future for applicants on major league teams may be "Do you belong to the union?" rather than "What is your batting average?"

WAR ON JACK RABBITS.

Southern California Farmers Planning a Big Drive.

A great rabbit drive on Oct. 6 is being arranged by the farmers and ranches of Delano, Cal., in Kern county, and it is expected that anywhere from 25,000 to 100,000 of the long eared pests will be slain.

The drive will be made a big holiday occasion. There will be a barbecue, with all sorts of merry-making. A great inclosure will be prepared, and the hunters will spread out so as to form a line across the country for ten miles or more, and the animals will be forced to head into the trap, where they will be slaughtered. They will then be skinned and shipped to San Francisco and Los Angeles markets, where they bring a few cents apiece.

There are hundreds of thousands of jack rabbits in Kern county, and crops have suffered heavily from them. Efforts to establish vineyards this year failed because of their depredations.

TO TEACH POSTAL WISDOM.

School Children to Learn How to Mail Letters and Study Postal Laws.

Postmaster General Meyer issued an order the other day directing all postmasters to unite with their local school authorities with the view of adopting the most effective method of instructing school children as to the organization and operations of the postal service, particularly the proper addressing of letters and the importance of placing return cards on envelopes.

Postmasters are also directed to arrange if possible to deliver personal talks to the pupils and give teachers access to the Postal Guide and the postal laws and render them every assistance in securing necessary information.

In Africa.

A shadow clouds the endless sky
In Africa.
The jungle echoes with a sigh
In Africa.
The poor, benighted Hottentot
No longer roams the sandy plot,
But lurks in his bamboo cot
In Africa.

The lion skulks with trembling tread
In Africa.
The tiger wishes he were dead
In Africa.

And, chattering, with grinning faces,
From bough to bough in each oasis,
The monkeys no longer run the bases
In Africa.

Loud wails the hippopotamus
In Africa.
"Oh, why did they discover us
In Africa?"

The pallid box constructor slips
Unto the gum tree's tallest tips
And hisses through his whitened tips
In Africa.

Within the deep depths of the Nile
In Africa
A pang assails the crocodile
In Africa.

No more does he lounge on the sand,
Untrifled, bliss and bland,
A-mapping dyes to beat the band
In Africa.

What means, you ask, this boddy bugh
In Africa?
This ducking in an uncult bush
In Africa?

Quite soon upon that blighted shore,
Telling his faithful "story-four,"
Lands the good King Theodore
In Africa.

ATTENTION, FARMERS!!

The Adair County Farmers' Institute will be held at Columbia, Tuesday and Wednesday,
October 13th and 14th, 1908,

Under the Auspices of the State Department of Agriculture.

Better methods of Farming, Fruit Growing, Stock Raising, Road Building, Dairying Domestic Science and Kindred Subjects will be discussed. Mr. Lowell Roubush, of New Richmond, O., an Agricultural Lecturer of National reputation, who has been employed by the State and National Governments to instruct Farmers' Institutes for twenty-five years, will be present both days, and Mr. W. H. Scherffius, of the Lexington Experiment Station. J. B. Walker, of Hopkinsville, Ky., one of the greatest corn, wheat, and alfalfa specialists in the State, will lecture on these subjects and on practical road building and poultry raising. Assisted by local speakers, they expect to make this one of the most successful farmers' meetings ever held in the County.

Don't fail to be present both days. Your tax money pays these Lecturers, and if you fail to hear them yours is lost. Don't miss the night lecture Oct. 13, Subject: "Gates Suitable for the Young People" by Mr. Roubush.

Bring your family and baskets and let's have an old fashion reunion.

Ladies are Especially Invited to Attend.

In order to encourage better methods in Farming, Stock Breeding, Etc., plans will be inaugurated whereby premiums will be given at the next County Institute on Wheat, Corn, Alfalfa Potatoes and other products, also Live Stock.

Every farmer that is, or will become, a member of the Farmers' Club will be eligible to compete for any or all of the premiums offered, and it will not cost a cent to become a member.

J. A. English,
President Farmers' Club.

NOTICE TO FARMERS

Since putting in the stove mill, I find that I am making more fuel than I can use. In order to utilize more fuel, I will give 38 pounds of strictly first-class Flour and 11 pounds of bran per bushel for Al wheat, and will continue to do so as long as I am getting this extra fuel. : :
I will pay the highest market price for good Wheat.
